

CURRICULUM-BASED Music Classes for Children (2018/2019)

Music Classes for HOMESCHOOL students!

INSTRUCTOR: Gabriela Gallo, BM, BEd, PBEEd
Bio available at www.steinbachartscouncil.ca

What are CURRICULUM-BASED Music Classes?

Based on her successful teaching of similar programs in the past, Gabriela Gallo is an expert in Curriculum-Based music teaching for young children. Designed as an opportunity for children to meet weekly with their peers and get musical education from a certified music teacher, Gabriella draws all her teaching material for her classes from Manitoba’s music education curriculum and incorporates specialized philosophies of teaching, including Orff and Kodaly Methods.

Who is this program for and how will it help me?

Developed specifically for homeschool students age 5- 8 and 9-12, the goal of these classes is to offer musical education to children who may not have regular exposure to the music classroom. This may also include students who do not attend regular public school, or whose schools do not offer music programs. Music is considered by many to be one of the most valuable pieces of a well-rounded education, establishing skills that will be used through a child’s entire lifetime.

What makes this program different?

While many students take private music lessons, they may not be getting all the fundamentals of music. Gabriella includes the following elements in her programming:

- Orff instrument exploration
- non-pitch percussion playing
- movement and dance
- recorder
- singing and choral technique
- music history & theory
